

Microwave Links

Our Specialist CCTV division can provide Licensed Microwave links for the transmission of CCTV live Video and data on single or multiple links across distances of up to 10km.

All our equipment is licensed by OFCOM (Radio communications Agency) and we can assist end users in the application for a licensed frequency.

The use of licensed frequencies prevents problems from interference from external sources and ensures high reliability to the end user.

The use of wire free technology offers significant cost savings where it is necessary to install security solutions in town centre's, or across rivers or railway lines.

The frequency used provides and maintains a fade resistant signal even in poor weather conditions, such as snow or blizzards in comparison to most other wire free technology.

Our Microwave solutions can also carry voice and gate control, on one or more links allowing third party devices to be easily integrated where specified.

Our specialist approved CCTV division can also provide CCTV solutions using Satellite, in Real time; anywhere throughout the UK or Ireland.
