

Paramount Approved Commercial Alarms

Many companies do not consider the full implications of a break in until it's too late.

Businesses are targets of crime which cost companies millions of pounds every year. Many companies only consider the cost of physical losses; losses incurred from unfulfilled orders, lost production and down time can be just or more costly to any business.

To add to this, the risk of fatalities and injuries to staff and visitors makes it essential that an employer takes responsibility for your site security requirements.

The choice of a security provider is one which should be made with serious consideration; can they offer all the services you will need now and in the future? Or will you need to use two or even multiple providers to meet your requirements.

Choosing an Installer that can offer all Electronic ranges, Physical Measures, in house central monitoring and Response to incidents by a Patrol or security officer has many advantages over a security provider offering only a few services.

Paramount is a National Security Inspectorate (NSI/NACOSS) approved Integrated Systems provider. This ensures each client receives the highest standard of installations and services demanded by Industry standards, police and fire services and the insurance industry.

Choosing a monitored Paramount alarm connects your premises to our Central Station 24 hrs a day. Activations from all kinds of alarm signals can be monitored including intruder, fire, lone worker, and technical alarms such as freezers failing.

Response to alarm activations is a crucial decision, as without ensuring the appropriate response, your system will fall at the first hurdle. Response types include-

- *Police
- *Fire
- *Key holders
- *Security officers
- *Street Wardens
- *Caretakers

All of our security systems are easy to operate and provide a full audit/history trail of system events and users. As standard our systems comply with BSEN50131 and ISO9001 offering security grades 2, 3 and high security 4.
